

Denis Tack, born in 1961 in Brussels, Belgium.

European school in Karlsruhe (Germany) from 1966-1970.

European school in Luxembourg 1970-1979.

Medical School : Université Libre de Bruxelles, Belgium 1979-1986.

Radiology training in Erasme Hospital Brussels 1986-1990.

Married, three children. First child is boy born in 1987, autistic and mentally impaired: as parent, a great experience, especially for learning how to communicate and accept the unacceptable.

Hobbies: jogging, cycling, skiing

Professional career:

From 1990 to 2003: Radiologist in Hopital Civil Charleroi

From 2006 to 2008. Head of Cardiovascular Imaging Department of Hopital Erasme, Brussels

From 2008 to 2019, Radiologist in Epicura Hospital Baudour, Ath, Hornu, Belgium

Working as full time as clinical radiologist.

Clinical research conducted in Hopital Civil Charleroi was focused on CT radiation dose from MDCT. In 2005, PhD thesis was achieved at the Univerité Libre de Bruxelles (ULB) on "Radiation dose in adult multidetector computed Tomography".

Founding member of European Society for Thoracic Imaging in 2003.

RSNA, ARRS, ESR member.

Secretary General of ESTI Society since 2005-2011.

Expert in radiation protection for several national and international institutions.

Member of Editorial Boards for Radiology, European Radiology, Journal of Thoracic Imaging.

Author or co-author of 65 articles published in peer reviewed journals, 15 book chapters. Editor of 3 books focused on Radiation Protection.